

Agora Education (UK)

“Agora is a new independent think tank whose mission is to promote serious and searching discussion about higher education and its role in our society.

“Agora started life as an informal academic discussion group, set up by Professor Hugo de Burgh, director of the China Media Centre at Westminster University ... and Professor Jeremy Black, Professor of History at Exeter University ... At the end of 2006 Agora secured funding to allow it to formalise and become a think tank.”
