

September 20, 2008

Saying: Rome was prototyped in a Weekend

I was talking with my buddy Rich on the phone this morning and he was teasing me about trying to write the next generation LMS in a weekend. Last weekend I wrote the client side prototype and this weekend I am writing the server side prototype.

He laughed at my silliness and said "Rome was not built in a day" - my quick retort was "Rome was prototyped in a weekend." He thought it was funny - so I blogged it.

Posted by csev at September 20, 2008 09:12 AM