

Electronic Authentication Partnership (US)

“The goal of the Electronic Authentication Partnership (EAP) is to enable the interoperability of public and private online authentication systems. It is comprised of stakeholder groups, including Federal agencies, state governments, private-sector companies and organizations, and public interest groups.”

“The EAP is an outgrowth of a work group comprised of public and private sector participants assembled by the Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS).”

From www.eapartnership.org/default.htm, 19 March 2004