

MeasureOne (US)

“Dan Feshbach, MeasureOne founder and CEO, is a widely regarded innovator and company builder in mortgage, student loan, and consumer credit information and analytics. ... Feshbach established MeasureOne to address the scarcity and limitations of student loan data and the lack of transparency in the student loan market.

“MeasureOne is applying data science to clear away the data fog surrounding student loans and empower student loan lending, risk assessment, repayment, capital market investments, and public policy development.”

From www.measureone.com/company, 10 September 2014