MuleSoft Inc. (US)

"The open source Mule project was founded in 2003 by Ross Mason, VP Product Strategy. Frustrated by integration "donkey work," Ross set out to create a new platform that emphasized ease of development, flexibility, and re-use of components. He created Mule to bring a modern approach, one of assembly, rather than repetitive coding, to developers worldwide. The platform instantly found a following and quickly "went supersonic" in terms of adoption, now counting over 150,000 developers in the Mule community."

From www.mulesoft.com/about, 9 September 2014