

University of Salford (UK)

“A connection with the University of Salford builds a bridge to success. So if it's study, research or working with business and industry, we'll achieve excellence together.

As a University, we've been growing for over a hundred years and achieved success every step of the way.

And as part of this success we've developed into a dynamic and cosmopolitan institution with a first-class reputation for real-world teaching and ground breaking research.”

From www.salford.ac.uk/about/special/, 2 January 2011