Biography, resumes, website entries or new items about people who are referenced in eLibrary documents. These are added only when they provide additional information and perspective on the people and their contribution to higher education or the associated technologies.

Information about bloggers is included under About in their blog.

These documents have not been validated; the reader should consider currency of the information and validity of the sources.