eGovOS

The Center for Open Source and Government

"The Center of Open Source & Government works with governments around the world on Open Source policy and strategy. A main activity of the Center is the 'Open Source in Government' Conference Series. The Conference Series provides an unrivalled open platform in which to discuss and to exchange views on government policy alternatives with regards to Open Source Software. They are high-level, international events covering the topic of Open Source software, interoperability and open standards in the government sphere."

From www.egovos.org/about, 22 March 2004